Health Services

Southside Regional Medical Center

Professional Schools does not maintain health facilities or medical services. The responsibility for medical services rests with the students. In case of illness or injury on campus, Emergency Medical Services may be called to assist individuals. Students are strongly encouraged to carry their own health insurance.

First aid kits are available in Titmus Building, Ions Hall and Grizzard Building.

If a student is injured or becomes ill while on campus, the Dean of Academic Services and Dean of Administrative Services should be contacted. Should the student become ill or injured while in the clinical setting, the clinical instructor should be notified and facility protocol implemented.

Housing and Transportation

The School does not have housing facilities and does not find housing for students.

The School provides no transportation service for students. Buses and other forms of public transportation may be available at the various clinical locations; however students must make their own arrangements, have their own forms of transportation and/or participate in carpools.

Advisement

Administration, faculty, and staff at Southside Regional Medical Center Professional Schools view advisement of students as a very important and on-going activity. Faculty members are assigned to function as class advisors through individual program policies and clubs. Advisors will meet with the class as a group at least once per semester.

Student Services admissions officers serve as advisors to students who are not yet enrolled in a specific program. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with their course faculty members or course coordinator as the need arises. Faculty members in each program serve as academic advisors to students enrolled in their courses. Faculty members' office hours are posted on their office door at the beginning of each semester.

Academic and career counseling is available to all students by faculty and staff. Students are encouraged to make an appointment with a faculty member or member of administration to discuss career planning and advisement.

Counseling

Confidential personal counseling services are available to students through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) at Southside Regional Medical Center. The professional counseling staff are experienced in dealing with personal concerns that may interfere or hinder their academic success. The current contact information is provided on the bulletin board outside the Student Services Office, listed in course syllabi and on the School web page.

Student Government Association (SGA)

The Student Government Association (SGA) is the official organization authorized by the School's administration to represent all students enrolled at SRMCPS. The SGA elects officers each year. The Board of Trustees, the administration, faculty, and staff fully support the SGA. This support is most visible in the office of the SGA President who, upon election to that office, automatically becomes a member of the School's Executive Council. In addition, students are represented on standing School and Program committees, and these committees are charged with annual review and recommendation of changes to the School.

The Student Government Association is the voice of the student body and has paved the way for good lines of communication between students and administration. Students receive practical experience in responsible citizenship through participation in a program of self-government. The SGA is governed by its Constitution and By-Laws. Copies of these documents are available in the Office of the Dean of Academic Services.

Social Activities

The social development of students is viewed as an integral part of the total education offering at SRMCPS. Under the sponsorship of the SGA, social events include cookouts, holiday celebrations, charity events, tournaments, recognition ceremonies, and various other student body activities.
